President's Message

Debbie Smith

What a great presentation from both speakers at our March meeting. House Representative and Majority Leader, Steve Montenegro shared his journey of faith and politics and how as majority leader he is standing by his principles and the platform of the Republican party. He articulated his ideas clearly and showed us how passionate he is for doing the right thing.

He complimented both Representatives Jill Norgaard and Bob Robson on their accomplishments and fight to keep us on the right path. His informative presentation "Arizona House Majority Agenda 2015" may be viewed on YouTube at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rpm--rBvwf0>

Frank Riggs, President and CEO of The Joe Foss Institute has a very impressive resume. He shared his vision of opportunity for others through education, why the Joe Foss Institute was founded and what it stands for. Teaching Civics in our schools is a must. He shares Governor Ducey's plan to implement Civics education in Arizona.

We also enjoyed a surprise visit from former Secretary of State Ken Bennett and he joined our club as an associate. Mark your calendar and bring a friend to our April "Wine and Cheese" meeting with Secretary of State Michele Reagan.

I would like to thank Tirza Smalley for bringing in two new advertisers to ARW. Please make sure you tell the sponsors you are from Ahwatukee Republican Women when you visit their place of business. Our valued sponsors are located inside this newsletter, on our website and on Facebook!

As many of you know April is Parkinson's Awareness Month. Say a prayer for those who are battling this disease that one of these days, a cure will be found. God bless you all and thank you for the support and generosity you show each and every day.

With gratitude,
President Debbie Smith

Calvin Coolidge's Inaugural Address, Part II: on Taxes and Spending

With much of the world still recovering from WWI in 1925, President Calvin Coolidge devoted the middle portion of his Inaugural Address to foreign policy matters, then moved on to domestic issues. His straightforward, no-nonsense conservative approach to limited, Constitutional government was evident throughout that latter part of the speech. Before focusing on tax reform and reducing government spending, which he considered moral obligation issues, Coolidge reminded his Party that the results of the 1924 election had clearly demonstrated the voters' approval of the Republican policies which had already led to increased employment and prosperity in the country. Those citizens should expect his Administration and Congress to continue in the right direction and follow through on the Party's platform.

THE COLLECTION OF TAXES WHICH ARE NOT ABSOLUTELY REQUIRED, WHICH DO NOT BEYOND REASONABLE DOUBT CONTRIBUTE TO THE PUBLIC WELFARE, IS ONLY A SPECIES OF LEGALIZED LARCENY.

~CALVIN COOLIDGE

“When the country has bestowed its confidence upon a party by making it a majority in the Congress, it has a right to expect such unity of action as will make the party majority an effective instrument of government. ...The expression of the popular will in favor of maintaining our constitutional guarantees was overwhelming and decisive. ...The people declared that they wanted...their independence and freedom continued and supported by having the ownership and control of their property, not in the Government, but in their own hands.

“When we [look at] what was accepted, the policy that stands out with the greatest clearness is that of economy in public expenditure with reduction and reform of taxation. ...The men and women of this country who toil are the ones who bear the cost of the Government. ...The wisest and soundest method of solving our tax problem is through economy. ...The collection of any taxes which are not absolutely required...is only a species of legalized larceny. Under this republic the rewards of industry belong to those who earn them. ...The property of the country belongs to the people of the country. ...They do not support any privileged class...they ought not to be burdened with a great array of public employees. ... The wise and correct course to follow in taxation and all other economic legislation is not to destroy those who have already secured success, but to create conditions under which everyone will have a better chance to be successful. The verdict of the country has been given on this question. ... We shall do well to heed it.

“These questions involve moral issues. We need not concern ourselves much about the rights of property if we will faithfully observe the rights of persons. ...These rights...have a divine sanction. ...For individuals or for governments to waste and squander their resources is to deny these rights and disregard obligations. The result of economic dissipation to a nation is always moral decay.

“...The past and present show faith and hope and courage fully justified. Here stands our country...Here it will continue to stand, seeking peace and prosperity...America seeks no earthly empire...The higher state to which she seeks the allegiance of all mankind is not of human, but of divine origin. She cherishes no purpose save to merit the favor of Almighty God.”

Perhaps the American people and those who govern should revisit the principles and ideals of the Coolidge presidency – and we may do well to seek the same noble purpose to cherish.

The Difference Between Republicans & Democrats

Republicans

Republicans believe responsibility for each person's station in life ultimately resides with each individual person. The Republican Party encourages individuals to work to secure the benefits of society for themselves, their families, and for those who are unable to care for themselves.

Democrats

Democrats believe each person's rights can be sacrificed to the assumed needs of the group. Democrats assume "society" collectively is responsible for each of its members. Democrats place less emphasis on individual enterprise and initiative and prefer government "programs," such as the failed forty-year "War on Poverty."

Government and the Governed

Republicans believe government should only do for people those things they cannot do for themselves. Each person should have the right to determine what is best for him. Republicans believe governmental power and resources should be kept close to the people, through their state and community public servants, rather than centralized in distant big government.

Democrats believe a centralized power in Washington should control and direct our lives, with secondary consideration for the rights of individual citizens and communities. This has led to increasingly more federal controls and regimentation, often in the hands of un-elected bureaucrats, causing a severe erosion of local government power across the country.

Foreign Policy

Republicans believe peace and freedom can be protected only if America maintains a defense force strong enough to deter any aggressor. Republicans believe America, by striving to be that "shining city on a hill," can serve as the example the citizens of other countries can strive to become. Republicans encourage other nations to shoulder responsibility for their own problems. Republicans oppose unnecessary intervention in the internal affairs of other nations and stress helping our friends around the globe develop the skills and strengths necessary to protect themselves.

Democrats vacillate between extreme isolationism, intervention and confrontation tactics in relation to countries such as Vietnam, Cuba and Korea. Such inconsistent foreign policy confuses our allies and encourages our potential enemies.

Economic Policies

Republicans believe in the competitive free-enterprise system. Individuals must be free to use their talents, the key to personal and national prosperity. Republicans believe the only limits to an individual's opportunity to succeed are the limits of his own initiative and enterprise.

Democrats believe the economy is too complicated to be left to free enterprise alone, and therefore must be subjected to ever-increasing controls by the federal government. Democrats say we are "entering an era of limitations" and therefore must lower our individual economic expectations. Democrats see the economy as a fixed pie to be sliced up for special interests, rather than as a pie that can be made bigger by the industriousness and innovation of Americans unfettered by ill-conceived government regulations.

Government Spending and Taxes

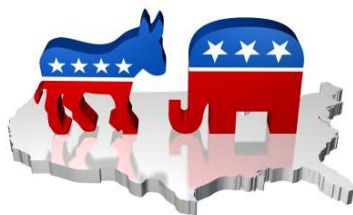

Republicans believe Americans should constantly strive to cut governmental spending and to eliminate costly, overlapping and unnecessary governmental regulations. Republicans believe tax increases should be voted upon by the people.

Democrats believe the federal government knows how and where to spend money for local needs better than elected community leaders, and federal bureaucrats should continue to control the flow of funds to the states and localities and dictate how the taxpayer's money will be spent.

The Future

Republicans believe in solutions decided upon and implemented by the people themselves, through their locally elected representatives. Republicans believe the solution to America's problems lies in the greatness of the American people, not government.

Democrats believe in a powerful, centralized bureaucracy aimed at solving local and national problems from the top down—a method that has failed everywhere it has been tried throughout history.

The 2012 Republican Party Platform

This platform is dedicated with appreciation and reverence for:

*The wisdom of the Framers of the United States Constitution,
who gave us a Republic,
as Benjamin Franklin cautioned,

April - Parkinson's Awareness Month

"Every day is a struggle but it is how you deal with your struggles that make you stronger or weaker."

~ Alcurtis Turner

Parkinson's disease is a chronic and progressive movement disorder caused by the death and malfunction of neurons. Dopamine is produced by neurons, and as neurons malfunction and die, there is a decrease in dopamine production in the brain. Dopamine is a chemical that sends messages to the part of the brain that controls movement and coordination.

Cause

A definitive cause of Parkinson's has not been found at this time. Researchers are exploring genetic and environmental factors that may cause Parkinson's.

Key Motor Symptoms

Tremor of the hands, arms, legs, or jaw

Muscle rigidity or stiffness

Slowness of movement

Impaired balance and coordination

Other Symptoms may include; dementia or confusion; fatigue; sleep disturbances; depression; constipation; and cognitive changes.

Diagnosis

Currently, there is no test that will conclusively determine if a person has Parkinson's disease. A diagnosis can be difficult and should be done by a neurologist with experience in diagnosing and treating the disease. Most often, multiple tests are conducted to rule out other conditions that manifest the same way Parkinson's disease does.

Cure and Treatment

No cure at this time

Medications

Deep brain stimulation

Exercise

Facts about Parkinson's

Estimate 10 million worldwide with the disease

Approximately 60,000 Americans are diagnosed each year

It is estimated that 4% of those affected are diagnosed before age 50

Risk of Parkinson's increases with age

Men are slightly more likely to have Parkinson's than women

In large population studies, there is a slightly higher risk of Parkinson's when a first-degree relative has been diagnosed

March was such a terrific month for Fundraising. Thank you all for making it happen. The Garage Sale was at my house and we sold a lot. We made over $1500, thanks to some large ticketed items, hard work and early morning hours. It has paid off and we will be able to fund many of our projects.

Marlin Plumbing and AC have been our sponsors for the past three months for our raffle Gift Baskets. I hope our winners have enjoyed their baskets. If you would like to sponsor a basket please contact me!

When you come to our monthly meeting, please stop by our table to see new items, including scarves, vintage jewelry, tote bags, and handmade note cards.

In April we are hosting a Wine and Cheese meeting. I will be putting a basket together for raffle and if you have any little items for this theme that you would like to donate, please give me a call.

Many thanks to Jacqueline Anderson for her help in selling tickets at our meeting. I always appreciate assistance during our meetings. If you would like to help please see me.

Ahwatukee Republican Women is affiliated with the Arizona Federation of Republican Women (AzFRW), and the National Federation of Republican Women (NFRW).

Members come together as a collective force to advance the influence of women through political access and participation.

We strengthen the Republican Party by recruiting, training and electing candidates, advocating the Party's philosophy and initiatives, and empower women of all ages, ethnicities and backgrounds in the political process.

In addition to political education and participation, our platform includes community service, and literacy.

-- Mission Statement --

To educate, inspire and encourage participation in the political process by volunteering our time and resources to elect Republican candidates and promote Republican ideals of peace through strength, prosperity through individual responsibility and liberty through limited government.
